RULES:

- You must be between the ages of 5 and 12 to enter.
- ABSOLUTELY NO entries will be accepted without an Entry Form (above) attached.
- Entries must be a copy or duplicate of your original - stories will not be returned.
- Illustrations are welcome, but not necessary.
- No limits on brevity or length of stories, although 500 words or less is recommended. (The judges are tired and old.)
- There are no stipulations on the nature, subject or form of your story. It may be poetry, fiction, biography, or a letter to your dog.
- Teachers are welcome to enter students' work, but please don't enter 30 stories about trees or holidays. Pick out the ones you think are the best stories. (Help us triage.) If you really want to enter 30 stories, they should be unique to each student. We also ask that teachers follow up on the contest so parents know about it. There may be postcards available to schools UPON REQUEST in January to send home with students, announcing the celebration/reception on February 19th, 2010.
- Stories must NOT have been written prior to Sept. 1st, 2009. We want the fresh stuff.
- Don't plagiarize! * [IT REALLY HAPPENS EVERY YEAR! CHECK YOUR STUDENTS' WORK!]

DEADLINE: No entries will be accepted after Friday, January 29th, 2010!

PRIZES:

- All prizes and acknowledgements will be bestowed at the reception on Friday, February 19th, 2010, at 7pm, at the Antioch Library (8700 Shawnee Mission Pkwy. Merriam, KS).
- There are as many winners as there are judges. Each judge will select a winning story and create an original artwork illustrating that story. After reading the story at the reception, the judge will present his/her illustration to the lucky contestant! It's really cool. It's frameable! (Not to be confused with "flammable".)
- Winners also receive a Gift Certificate from the Reading Reptile, and a gift from your friends at the Johnson County Library!
- All contestants receive a Certificate of Recognition.

For more information, call the Reading Reptile at 816-753-0441 or Dennis Ross at 913-495-2400.
